Productivity through People: Recapturing Productivity and Focus in our Organizations

Productivity is not rocket science. It's simple. In organisations, it requires working with and maximizing our own productivity and that of our people. The tried and true principles and systems shared in this session should prove to be provocative, productivity boosting and insightful. Mr Podolinsky shares how focusing on people and specifically, 'people productivity' can literally DOUBLE what we can accomplish. From policies & procedures to motivational constructs and systems, learn what it takes to bolster productivity. You will learn to 1. Rethink old paradigms & legacy systems 2. Realign priorities 3. Refocus critical elements ensuring individuals, teams & your organization become vastly more productive.
